"Fruit and spice star in this bone-dry Cabernet. It's very forward in blackberries, cherries, currants and dark chocolate, while the spice shows in the form of pepper, clove and star anise." 88 Points

"Inky ruby color. Red and blackcurrant on the nose, with hints of fresh tobacco, new leather and smoky herbs. A pliant mid-weight that's surprisingly deep and intense in flavor, offering sweet red and dark berry flavors, silky tannins and subtle minerality. The finish is youthfully taut but not hard, with the red fruit qualities repeating."

"The 2004 Alexander Valley Cabernet Sauvignon from Dashe Cellars has its measure of refined tannins, which give the wine an elegant structure emphasized by a hint of violets left on the palate." March 2008

"Mint, black earth and glove leather aromas. Youthful, tooth-sticking tannins; however, loaded with plum, black cherry and licorice flavors. A peppery nuance spikes the finish." April/May 2006

"Dashe is a solid Zin producer, and this is the first Cabernet from them that I've reviewed, so it's nice to report how good it is. It's a dry, soft, earthy wine, with lots of new oak, and it's also young." 87 Points

"Lovers of mineral-driven Cabernet will like this. Stony minerality shares the stage with ripe fruit; a bit of air coaxes out wild berries, chocolate and herbs."
